To Whom It May Concern

I was introduced to Wired Home Theatre Systems by my builder when I was finishing a condo penthouse.

Craig Goldberg and his team came to plan with me for my audio visual needs. They were so knowledgeable about what was available and how it would fit my desires and budget. I had the good judgement to follow their recommendations. They were always on time from start to completion and I am totally happy with my systems.

There has been very little need for follow up except for my own personal deficiencies in operating the system. The training they provided was excellent. Whenever I have a question or an issue caused by an electrical storm they answer my texts immediately, even on the weekend and are here to help right away when needed.

I highly recommend Wired Home Theatre Systems because of their knowledge, timeliness of installation and service.
